Ever wonder how to incorporate your APIDA identity and social justice into your career and passions? In this lecture, Sahra V. Nguyen will share how you can strengthen your vision, navigate your career, and stand out in your industry by focusing on both personal and collective impact. As an award-winning filmmaker and Founder/CEO of international importing and roasting company, Nguyen Coffee Supply, Nguyen exemplifies the polymathic creative experience of the millennial generation and will share personal insights on how to define and achieve success on your terms.

Sahra V. Nguyen is an award-winning writer, filmmaker, creative producer, director, and entrepreneur. She has written in many news outlets, such as NBC News, The Huffington Post, and Complex. Her focus is on the intersection of diversity, culture, and human potential, specifically with race, identity, the Vietnamese experience, and entrepreneurship. She has created at least 15 documentaries, and the most recent is “Deported,” which follows the grassroots fight to end deportation of Cambodian American from the US to Cambodia.

Doors open at 6:30.

Sign Language interpreting will be provided with CART captioning available upon request. Gordons is wheelchair accessible: for all other accommodations, please email msc@studentlife.wisc.edu or call 608-262-4503.